Hi Benjie,

I wanted to give you a heads up that since DPS is on strike, our programming at Manual is affected. This may or may not affect you in that we should know (hopefully by next week) if the first date you have for a site visit on March 6 will still work.

We'll know more with how we can project the schedule into the future definitely once the strike is over.

I was actually supposed to observe there this week, but that's not going to happen now. So I'll stay in communication with our Program Coordinators who are implementing the programming at Manual and keep you posted!
